

Vision, Aims and Values

Vision

Disabled People¹ are empowered to live independently, participating in society to the extent they wish, having choice and control over their lives.

Aims

We aim to:

- Be the first choice for Disabled People and anyone connected with Disabled People
- Lead in best practice when working with Disabled People
- Empower Disabled People, allowing them choice and control
- Deliver and develop services that remove barriers faced by Disabled People
- Involve Service Users in the running of these services
- Facilitate research and pilot projects connected to Disabled People

Values

These values guide how we will achieve our vision and aims and how we will act in our day-to-day work. We will:

- Work within the social model of disability
- Ensure our services are accessible and inclusive
- Be accountable and deliver results
- Be professional and treat you with respect
- Employ the best people
- Be proactive
- Work in partnership

¹ When referring to disabled people WECIL includes carers and older people. In addition, WECIL is non impairment specific and so provides services to all Disabled people.
